What is augmented reality?

Augmented reality (AR) is a technology that superimposes a computer-generated image on a user's view of the real world, thus providing a composite view.

AR is used in a variety of applications, including gaming, education, and manufacturing. In the case of Graphic Science 4D, AR is used to bring the pages of the book to life.

How does Graphic Science 4D work?

Graphic Science 4D uses a free app that can be downloaded to a smartphone or tablet. Once the app is installed, users simply point their device at the pages of the book and the app will bring the pages to life with interactive experiences, videos, and games.

The app uses a variety of sensors to track the user's device and determine where it is pointing. The app then uses this information to display the correct interactive experience, video, or game on the screen.

What are the benefits of using Graphic Science 4D?

There are many benefits to using Graphic Science 4D, including:

- It makes learning about science fun and engaging.
- It provides a variety of interactive experiences, videos, and games.
